Bountiful Blessings Farm is a family run farm specializing in all-natural and organic products and livestock. We believe that the healthiest products and foods are the ones that are as close to God-made as possible. In keeping with that idea, our farm produces the best things for our family and yours to put onto and into our bodies—for better health! We started a few years ago by making products and raising livestock for our family of 6. Then we shared some of our family's products with our friends and extended family, and they came back for more “good stuff”, and encouraged us to make our products available to folks like you who share our belief in wholesome, basic, “good stuff”.

Our products are handcrafted from wholesome ingredients—as unrefined as we can get—and are free from preservatives, dyes, and petroleum products. The short, basic ingredient lists—shown on the labels—become wonderfully pleasant, high quality, healthful, and effective products.

- Our handcrafted all-natural Bar and Shaving Soaps, Lotion Bars, Body Butters & Lip Balms are made from high quality all-natural ingredients including coconut, olive, sunflower and sweet almond oils, shea butter, and beeswax. We carefully select our ingredients from trusted sources so that our products are the highest quality for you. Free from alcohols, chemicals or petroleum products, our personal care products are handcrafted in small batches in our family kitchen—not in a corporate laboratory.
- Our handcrafted all-natural Soy Candles and Cubes are made from environmentally friendly soy wax and cotton wicks, and are triple scented with high quality fragrance oils. Our soy candles melt evenly for better burning all the way to the bottom, and last up to twice as long as a paraffin (petroleum) wax—so you'll enjoy the strong scent even longer. You may notice some blushing or color variation in the candles, which is normal feature of 100% soy wax, but it won't affect the performance. With a properly trimmed wick, our soy candles will produce very little soot (we recommend trimming the wick down to 1/4 inch before each burning). A nice feature of soy wax, the warm soy wax will wash right out of the candle jar with hot water and a soapy rag.
- Our handcrafted Organic Jams start with organic fruits, lovingly hand picked at peak ripeness by our family at small North and East Texas organic farms (Falls Creek Farms in Granbury, Greer Farms in Daingerfield, Larken Farms in Waxahachie all run great organic fruit farms!). We hand-mill the fruits and cook the jams in small batches. Our jams are made with organic fruits, organic cane sugar, and all-natural pectin (that's all!). We believe the best foods have a very short, basic ingredient list—the same stuff you'd find in your own kitchen. So you won't find any corn syrup, emulsifiers, artificial colors or flavors, or preservatives in our jams... just plain old-fashioned YUM! We've been told by many of our customers, friends, and family that our jams are the best they've ever tasted—and we think we'd have to agree!

Our livestock (Dorper Sheep, Fainting Goats, Hereford Pigs, New Zealand Rabbits) are fed high-quality wholesome grasses, hay, alfalfa pellets and oats—no grains or soy feeds, no feeds with hormones or antibiotics. We use all-natural methods—organic farming practices—though we're not officially certified organic. We use all-natural means of maintaining health and treating our animals, such as diatomaceous earth (all the farm animals get this for general health and natural control of parasites) and high-strength garlic oil (the sheep get this 4 times a year as additional protection against parasites). We occasionally treat ailments with herbal remedies when necessary. We don't use antibiotics, growth hormones, or chemical dewormers. So we know what's on our kitchen table feeding our family, and feel great about putting it on your kitchen table too.

And protecting our livestock herds is a team of Great Pyrenees livestock dogs. It's a wonderful sight to watch our Great Pyrenees with the sheep and goat herds, doing what God made them to do. They're outstanding guardians, working well in teams of two to three, each "taking their shift" around the clock through the day and night. Great Pyrenees are at home in a pasture with a herd, and also make great family dogs (we've had many customers tell us their kids were raised by their Pyrenees!). Our puppies are raised with our sheep and goats, learning their job as working livestock dogs from their parents.

We hope you enjoy your purchase, and invite you to visit our website to take a tour of the farm, contact us, or write a review to let us know how you like our products!
